

SHADOWS OF SHASTA.

In the place where the grizzly repose,
Under peaks where a right is a wrong,
That memories richer than roses,
Sweet echoes more sweet than a song;
Sounds sweet as the voice of a singer
Made sacred with sorrows unpaid,
And a love that implores me to linger
For the love of dead days and their dead.
But I turn, throwing kisses, returning
To strife and to turbulent men,
As to learn to be wise, as unlearning
All things that were manifest then.

Joaquin Miller.

CURRENCY.

Rich but honest is a new way to put it.
An umbrella man is fishing for "Old Prob's" place.—Boston Post.

A Boston paper twits Philadelphia on the fact that it never had a decent fire yet.

The Morgan Envelope Company will be making 1,000,000 postal cards per day after July 1.

A Worcester County, Mass., man owns a pair of horses forty years old. He calls them 240's.

A Michigan farmer has written Mr. Bergh to know if folding doors in hog pens will be the fashion this summer.

Paxton, Ill., has a new paper called the Ginlet, which is to be devoted to life, liberty and the pursuit of greenbacks."

A countryman at Dyersburg, Tenn., was noticed the other day gravely setting his watch by a painted sign in front of a jeweler's.

The Bumphisticated Squizzlers and Rummy Marsh Macaroons are among the patriotic organizations which will celebrate the glorious Fourth at Chelsea, Mass.

An engineer has invented a machine which will cut off the general reporter from many an item. It is a hot-water pump with which to squirt hot water on deaf persons who walk on the track.

One of the bluest of Boston being requested by a rich and vulgar young fellow for permission to marry "one of his girls," give this rather crushing reply: "Certainly; which one would you prefer, the waitress or the cook?"

We pity our descendants. A hundred years, from now there will be no young ladies who strewed flowers before Washington; no young men who saw him review the army; and oh! dreadful thought! no colored woman who was once his servant.

A clergyman in Davenport, Iowa, exchanged pulpits with a pastor in a not distant city a few Sundays ago, and meeting at the railroad crossing they had a brief chat together. They carried satchels just alike, and when the car bell rang, each caught up one, started for the train and found on reaching their destinations that they had exchanged satchels and sermons.

A reporter for a Western paper, speaking of a certain fair creature, remarked that "the profusion and color of hair would lead one to look upon it as though it was sinn by the nimble fingers of the easy hours, as they glided through the bright June days whose many sunny rays of light had been caught in the meshes, and were contented to go no further." This is better than saying the girl's hair was red.

A prominent merchant went to his box in the Boston post-office Monday and found what he thought must be a dress pattern. A little surprised he commenced pulling it out, but it seemed to be glued fast into the box. He pulled harder, and was at last horrified at hearing a little scream. He then became aware that the dress of one of the lady clerks had become caught in the box, and our merchant was vainly endeavoring to drag dress, young lady and all, through the door.

A meteoric stone, weighing about a pound and a half, was recently found by a young geologist near the Rand farm, Boston Highlands, Mass. The specimen has been examined by a number of geologists, who have pronounced it an aerolite. There are evidences that it was in a partly molten state when it fell, as one side is flattened by striking on the ledge. It is a dark-colored stone, somewhat crumbling, and full of particles of iron, possessing sufficient magnetism to affect the compass.

A Boston writer says that men do not kill themselves so much by overwork as by inattention to the common laws of health. They eat at improper hours, they do not exercise, they neglect the prime essential sleep, they break down, and overwork gets the blame. A man is like an engine; he will stand a certain amount of high pressure, and no more. Half the quarrels and litigations in the world are caused by bad digestion; and we think he is pretty nearly correct.

Speaking of the late Elias Howe and his great invention, a gentleman who formerly resided in New Haven says he had for a neighbor a master mechanic who had done much toward perfecting the sewing machine and who from actual knowledge could give the cost of the different kinds now in use. The Howe machine, table included, cost $9; the Wheeler & Wilson, $7; the Singer, about $7; the Wilcox & Gibbs, $5; from which it would seem that somebody must be making considerable profits from that indispensible little affair.

FASHION NOTES.

A Princeton, Ill., girl died of grief because her new spring bonnet fell into the river and was ruined.

A new fabric, made of woven glass, has been invented for ladies' dress material. It can't be stained, and it is incombustible.

Fashion and common sense now go hand in hand as regards feminine foot—the broader the sole the more stylish the boot.

Very large fans continue in fashion. They are in all patterns and prices. Cheap ones are most in favor, the ladies arguing that the rapid changes in fashion justify them in being economical in "keeping up with it."

At the recent wedding of Mr. Joseph H. Harper and Miss Hoe, daughter of Mr. Richard M. Hoe, at "Brightside," Westchester county, N. Y., French pavilions and marquises were erected on the lawn for parties desirous of enjoying conversation and a sight of the beautiful scene.

A perceptible change in the style of wearing the hair has taken place. It is not now so absurdly high, and it is no longer "gentle" to part it on the side. False hair is slowly and surely being discarded, the ladies relying solely upon nature's gifts to beautify and adorn their heads.
